

What Is The Actual Problem ??

India grapples with achieving parity in women's empowerment. Legal frameworks exist, but social norms and limited access to education, particularly in rural areas, restrict women's economic and social mobility. This disparity hinders progress, as evidenced by lower literacy rates and higher vulnerability to violence.

The Problem is so critical that it is enlisted in 3 different SDGs

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

1 NO POVERTY

2 ZERO HUNGER

3 GOOD HEALTH AND WELL-BEING

4 QUALITY EDUCATION

5 GENDER EQUALITY

6 CLEAN WATER AND SANITATION

7 AFFORDABLE AND CLEAN ENERGY

8 DECENT WORK AND ECONOMIC GROWTH

9 INDUSTRY, INNOVATION AND INFRASTRUCTURE

10 REDUCED INEQUALITIES

11 SUSTAINABLE CITIES AND COMMUNITIES

12 RESPONSIBLE CONSUMPTION AND PRODUCTION

13 CLIMATE ACTION

14 LIFE BELOW WATER

15 LIFE ON LAND

16 PEACE, JUSTICE AND STRONG INSTITUTIONS

17 PARTNERSHIPS FOR THE GOALS

What Is The Probable Solution ??

Bridging this gap is crucial for India's overall development by achieving gender parity in India's tech industry necessitates a multi-faceted strategy. By implementing initiatives that provide scholarships and access to STEM role models, we can inspire young women to pursue technical educations and careers. Additionally, fostering a supportive work environment within tech companies, through flexible work arrangements and continuous learning programs, is crucial for retaining female talent.
